

News at IU Bloomington

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Take a look inside the LuddyFest celebration honoring Luddy Hall

BY BROOKLYN CHANCE <../../../../MEDIA-SPECIALISTS/CHANCE-BROOKLYN.HTML>

April 20, 2018

The Indiana University School of Informatics, Computing and Engineering held a weeklong celebration starting April 9 in honor of Luddy Hall <<https://news.iu.edu/stories/2018/01/iub/inside/16-newly-opened-luddy-hall.html>> , the new 124,000-square-foot, $39.8 million home to most of the school's departments and programs.

LuddyFest <<https://www.sice.indiana.edu/luddyfest/>> included a lecture series from global innovators; a student startup pitch contest <<https://news.iu.edu/stories/2018/04/iub/releases/13-speech-therapy-robot-for-children-with-cleft-lip-and-palate.html>> ; demonstrations of maker spaces and workshops; an unveiling ceremony for "Amatria," <<https://news.iu.edu/stories/2018/04/iub/inside/17-sentient-art-unveiled-at-luddy-hall.html>> a large, high-tech, sculptural work of art suspended from beneath the glass atrium on the fourth floor; and a dedication ceremony <<https://president.iu.edu/media/photos/2018/luddy-hall-dedication/index.html>> led by IU President Michael A. McRobbie.

Take a look at some of the highlights from the celebration:

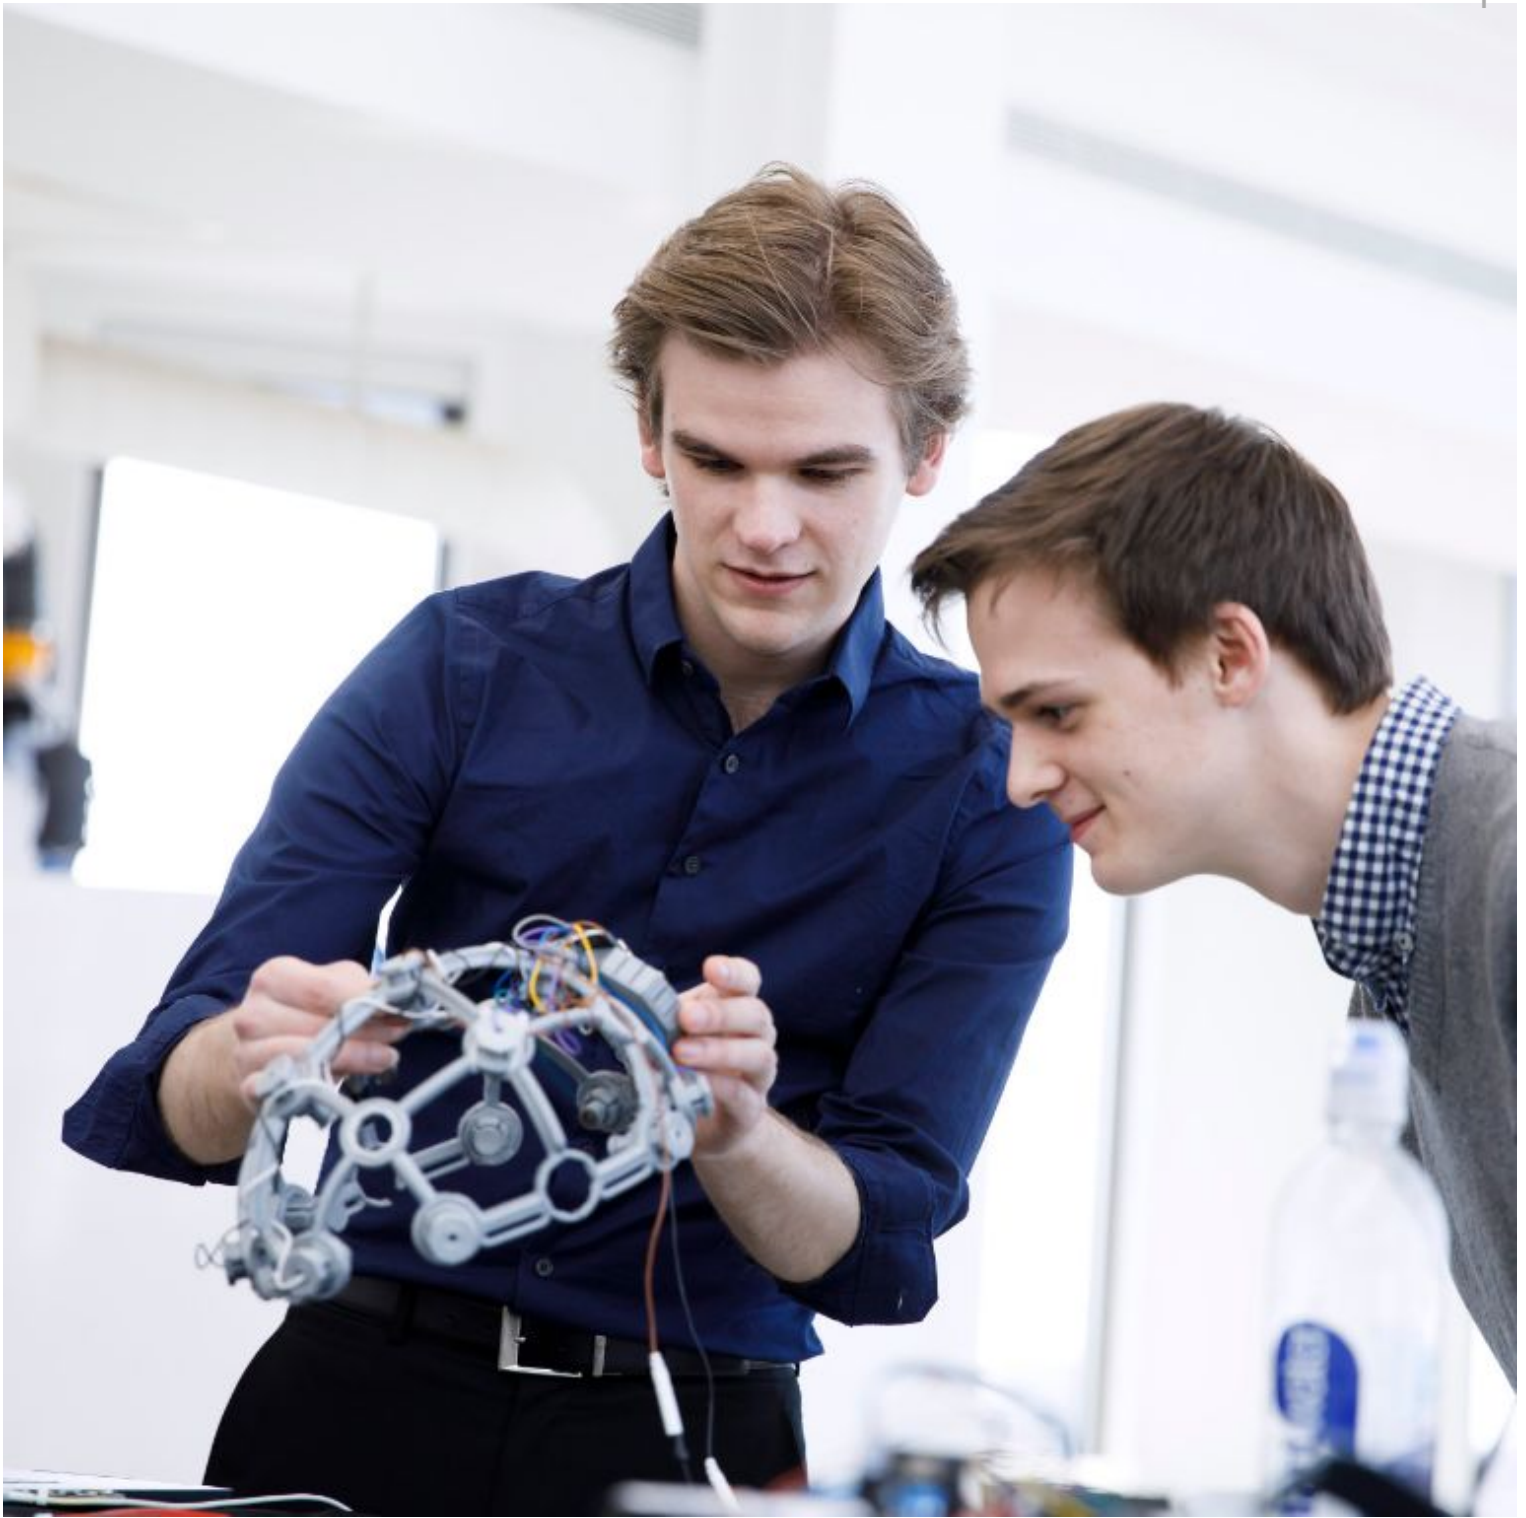

From top: The exterior of Luddy Hall, the new 124,000-square-foot, $39.8 million home to the Indiana University School of Informatics, Computing and Engineering on the IU Bloomington campus; Sean Wang, dean of the School of Computer Science at Fudan University in Shanghai, China, shakes hands with a guest; students, faculty and staff visit Luddy Hall during the weeklong celebration. Photos by Eric Rudd and James Brosher, IU Communications

From top: Tingyu Li, left, and Pavithra Ramamurthy pitch their "Buddy" speech therapy robot for children with cleft lip and palate. The team won first prize and $7,500 at the third annual Cheng Wu Innovation Challenge; keynote speaker and IU alumnus Ian Rogers, the former senior director of Apple Music and the chief digital officer of LVMH, speaks to a crowd; engineering student Aiden Whelan, left, holds a headset as he demonstrates an interactive creation during the FabLab Showcase. Photos by Ann Schertz, Eric Rudd and James Brosher

From top: The audience begins to fill in before the unveiling of "Amatria," a piece of "living art" designed by world-renowned Canadian architect Philip Beesley; a student speaks with an alumnus after a roundtable discussion; Toronto artists Luke Kimmerer, left, and Richard Mui work on the installation of "Amatria" leading up to LuddyFest. Photos by Amelia Herrick and James Brosher, IU Communications.

Filed Under: Bicentennial Priority: A Commitment to Student Success

<<https://news.iu.edu/tags/bicentennial-priority-a-commitment-to-student-success>> ,

Bicentennial Priority: Towards a Culture of Building and Making

<<https://news.iu.edu/tags/bicentennial-priority-towards-a-culture-of-building-and-making>> , Campus Life <<https://news.iu.edu/topic/campus-life>> , Faculty and Staff

<<https://news.iu.edu/news-for/faculty-and-staff>> , IU Community

<<https://news.iu.edu/news-for/iu-community>> , Photo Gallery

<<https://news.iu.edu/tags/photo-gallery>> , School of Informatics and Computing

<<https://news.iu.edu/tags/school-of-informatics-and-computing>> , School of Informatics, Computing and Engineering <<https://news.iu.edu/tags/school-of-informatics-computing-and-engineering>> , Science and Technology

<<https://news.iu.edu/topic/science-and-technology>> , Students

<<https://news.iu.edu/news-for/students>>

RECOMMENDED FROM THE NEWSROOM

Students got their hands dirty to uncover buried Wylie House greenhouses

Incoming Bloomington student will be 17th from family to attend IU
</stories/2018/07/iub/02-incoming-bloomington-student-will-be-17th-member-of-family-to-attend-iu.html>

TRENDING ARTICLES

1

Welcoming IU Fort Wayne to the family </stories/2018/07/iu/inside/18-welcoming-iu-fort-wayne-to-the-family.html>

2

Indiana teachers get a hands-on look at environmental change at IU Summer Science Institute </stories/2018/07/iub/02-indiana-teachers-get-a-hands-on-look-at-environmental-change-at-camp-for-nearly-100-years.html>
IU Bloomington | July 2, 2018

3

Around IU </stories/2018/07/iu/inside/18-news-roundup.html>

4

IU Human Resources to continue listening sessions about the new staff job framework this fall </stories/2018/07/iu/inside/16-human-resources-listening-sessions-for-job-framework.html>

5

IU Bloomington alumni nominated for 2018 Emmy Awards </stories/2018/07/iub/releases/19-alumni-nominated-for-emmy-awards.html>

